

Monica Lazaro Joins Biovian as East Coast Business Development Director

2.1.2024

Biovian, a leading provider of biopharmaceutical contract development and manufacturing services, is pleased to announce the appointment of Monica Lazaro as the US-based Business Development Director, effective January 2nd, 2024.

Monica will play a crucial role in strengthening Biovian's Commercial team as the US East Coast leader, complementing our current US West Coast Business Development Director, Jayme Tortorici.

CBO Magnus Gustafsson, leader of the Commercial team, expressed his enthusiasm about Monica joining Biovian, saying, "We are delighted to welcome Monica to Biovian. Her extensive experience and proven track record in the gene therapy sector make her a valuable addition to our team. With Monica on board, we are well-positioned to enhance our presence in the US market and further drive our business development efforts."

Monica Lazaro brings a wealth of expertise to her roles within Research and Development, Business Management, Business and Commercial Operations, and Business Development. She has accumulated a decade of experience in the academic, CDMO, and gene therapy sector. In her own words, Monica expressed her excitement about joining Biovian, stating, "I am honored to be part of Biovian, a company that is at the forefront of advancing biopharmaceutical solutions. I look forward to contributing to the growth of the Commercial team and leveraging my experience to drive strategic partnerships on the US East Coast."

Biovian's Commercial team is now well-positioned with both East and West Coast leaders, allowing the company to better serve clients and partners across the United States.

About Biovian
